Our Intention: Our deepest Value

All great leaders have an emotional driver for their cause. Martin Luther King had a deep intention of freedom for his people and we believe this sat behind every decision and behaviour he delivered. It benefits us enormously to know what these drivers are in order to inspire ourselves, our clients and all others to take a certain action.

Purpose: Our reason for living and working

In order to be truly motivated we need to understand that there are core elements that human beings want;

- to experience our deepest feelings
- to feel a strong sense of security, excitement, self-worth, connection and growth
- to give to others.

Identity: Who we are at our best

At a level of identity, we are incredibly complex. We use labels to describe ourselves and, even though language cannot truly encompass all that we are, it is an extremely powerful guide. If we were to ask the people who know us best, what would they say are our greatest qualities? Knowing our true sense of self has so many benefits, most of all it creates a real value of trust in all who surround us.

Values and Beliefs: What is most important to us?

Our core values, such as Trust, Honesty, Integrity, Compassion and Health, form the foundations for our emotional compass. They allow us to make the right decisions for ourselves and others. When we recognise what values are crucial for us it supports a strength to make decisions, carry them through and attract the right clients who share these qualities.

Understanding and living our values at the highest level through introspection is very powerful to ascertain if we are showcasing ourselves in an authentic way.

“Craig generated huge energy in the room... No one could help but be affected by his passion and focus on giving the audience as much value as possible.

“Many speakers can stay on the surface but Craig gets you to dig deep, to challenge - to be brave. Lives will not be the same as he, with mastery, addresses cause rather than effect, delivered with an air of authority and love.”

— SARAH HOPWOOD

It's in Life's challenges that our power Unfolds.

It's really hard to lift our energy levels and see any positives in these tough times, let alone find opportunities and actually feel motivated.

Craig Goldblatt is a phenomenal, inspirational speaker who has worked with The Supper Club for many years. Craig talks passionately about how we as individuals can understand our own personal beliefs to then make sense of these experiences and see them in a positive way.

We then have a choice to find our inner child-like energy again, to seek out opportunities in all this and to make a difference. It's impossible to not come away with new ideas and be energised after listening to Craig!

What Are You Leaving Behind?

We only get one shot at this life.

One shot at living with purpose. One swing to give it our all. One chance to live with depth and meaning.

What happens when you get to the end of yours?

Will you wish for another go? Or will you know, without a shadow of doubt, that you gave it your best— that you leave the world better than how you found it? What exactly do you leave behind?

You can look back knowing you loved fiercely. You gave generously. You spoke bravely. You can leave this world knowing you fought hard for your true beliefs.

You can spend time in the right places with the right people. You can live every day like it's your last, experiencing the extraordinary power of knowing yourself fully.

You can achieve your highest vision. Accomplish your loftiest goals. Or grab life by the lapels, challenging it to make you greater. Stronger. Unstoppable.

Grateful to be alive, you'll walk with authenticity. You'll inspire others to follow your lead. And long after you're gone, your life will ripple through history. That's real impact.

Is that the life you're leaving behind?

This is your shot. Your one chance to fuel your purpose and become better than you've ever thought possible. This is your living legacy.

To becoming your very best,

Craig
